

Bugeilio'r Gwenith Gwyn by Bard, William (Will) Hopcyn
English lyrics by Walter Maynard

C        G        C
Mi sydd fachgen ieuanc ffrol.

Yn byw yn ol fy ffansi
F                      C
My fi'n bugeilio'r gwenith gwyn,
G                      C
Ac arall yn ei fedi.
F
Pam na ddeui ar fy ôl,
G
Rhyw dydd ar Ôl ei gilydd?
F                      C
Gwaith 'rwyn dy weld, y feinir fach,
G                      C
Yn lanach, lanach beunydd!

C        G        C
Glanach, lanach wyt bob dydd,

Neu fi ô'm ffydd yn ffolach,
F                      C
Er mwyn y Gŵr a wnaeth dy wedd,
G                      C
Gwna im drugaredd bellach.
F
Cwnn dy ben, gwô'l acw draw,
G
Rho i mi'th law wen dirion;
F                      C
Gwaith yn dy fynwes bert ei thro
G                      C
Mae allwedd clo fy nghalon!

C        G        C
Tra fo dŵr y mor yn hallt,

A thra fo 'ngwallt yn tyfu
F                      C
A thra fo calon yn fy mron
G                      C
Mi fydda'n ffyddlon iti:
F
Dywed imi'r gwir dan gel
G
A rho dan sel d'atebion,
F                      C
P'un ai myfi neu arall, Ann,
G                      C
Sydd orau gan dy galon.

C G C
Idle days in summertime,

In pleasant sunny weather,

F C
Amid the golden colour'd corn,

G C
Two lovers pass'd together.

F
There were words they did not speak

G
To give their thoughts expression;

F C
Each knew the other's heart was full,
G C
But neither made confession.

C G C
Winter came, and then, alas!

Came cold and dreary weather;

F C
No more the lovers passed their days
G C
Amid the fields together.

F
Fate had severed them apart,

G
And now they're brokenhearted;

F C
Had they been wed in summertime,
G C
They would not now be parted.
